A JOURNEY OF SOLIDARITY WITH AFRICA

- Charlene LeDet Harris '65

Africa has always been on the top of my list of places to visit. This summer's visit to Nigeria and Ghana was an experience I will never forget for reasons that have nothing to do with a typical vacation excursion.

In November 2001, the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops issued a document titled "A Call to Solidarity with Africa," that was intended to draw the attention of the global community in general and of the Catholic community in particular to the plight and promise of Africa. The bishops insist that the people, and especially the Church in America, must be in solidarity with Africa. Solidarity is not philanthropy. It is not an option. Solidarity is rooted in the doctrine of the Body of Christ. The document stated: "We write in hope, recognizing the history, strength, spirituality, courage and capacity of the Church and peoples of Africa. We write with deep concern, witnessing the proliferation of armed conflicts, deterioration in health care and education infrastructure, and an increasing spread of disease and other threats to the lives of our African brothers and sisters. Our fear is that Africa's hopes could be destroyed by indifference."

The Sacramento Diocese Black Catholic Council, of which I am the chairperson, formed a committee: Africa Solidarity Initiative. It was our intent to develop a program in our diocese to make real the recommendations for self-education and involvement in public advocacy.

I read about Nigeria and Ghana, but after a few days in Africa, I realized that I had failed to prepare to be amazed! In the midst of abject poverty, I was amazed by the spirit, the graciousness, the hospitality, and the tremendous faith of the peoples of Africa. Knowing that poverty exists is one thing; seeing it up close and personal — staring at you everywhere in the cities, towns, and villages — is another.

On July 22, 2006 our eleven-member group took off for Africa and arrived in Abuja, the capitol of Nigeria. While there, we stayed in a residential facility owned by the Archdiocese. In Africa, the most viable non-governmental institutions providing social services—including schools, hospitals, clinics, and agricultural cooperatives—are those operated by the Catholic Church and other Christian groups. Nearly 17 percent of all health systems in sub-Saharan Africa are ministries of the Catholic Church.

Our first stop was a small village community about 20 minutes outside of Abuja. We were greeted with drums and dancing by the entire village. We met with the elders, teachers, the headmaster, and others from the village, asking about some of the challenges they face. I vividly remember the headmaster's comment that they have 254 students and 18 desks and no desks or chairs for the teachers. The only houses that were visible to me in this village were made of mud with tin and dried palm branch leaf roofs.

Next we visited St. Mary's Catholic Hospital and its HIV/AIDS clinic, operated by the Congregation of the Holy Child Jesus, and supported primarily by grants and private funding. We toured the hospital and met with some of the patients who were attending an HIV support group that same day. Some of the patients shared their

PRESIDENT'S PODIUM

Dear Alumnae:

The next few months will certainly be busy for all of us.

The 90th Anniversary Celebration of St. Paul's Grammar School will be held on Sunday, October 22, 2006. Mass will be at 12:15 p.m., with Archbishop Niederauer presiding. A reception will follow in the Parish Hall.

Our Annual Mass and Luncheon will be held on November 11, 2006. This year the Class of 1957 will be our honored Golden Belles.

Candlelighting will be held on December 12, 2006 at 7:00 p.m. in the Church. This is certainly a beautiful tradition that will put you in "the Christmas Spirit."

Our annual "Little Christmas Get Together" is on Saturday, January 13, 2007 at noon in the Rectory.

And in between is Thanksgiving and Christmas! So please mark your calendars for all of these events.

May you all have a blessed Holiday Season, filled to the brim with much love and joy. I am looking forward to seeing you at one of our events.

challenges including alienation from family. A teacher had been fired from his job when his condition was discovered. As a result, he is unable to take care of his family. Lack of transportation for medical visits or support group meetings is a common problem. One woman indicated that she is concerned about the future of her children. Who will care for them after her death? It was very difficult to listen to these people and keep back the tears. Hospital staff also shared with us their challenges: coping with a constant rise in the number of people seeking assistance; limited resources, both funds and manpower; religious and cultural barriers; finding employment for some of the support group members that are unemployed or who lost their jobs due to their HIV status; and resolving accommodation problems of patients with their landlords.

Each and every day of the balance of the trip was eye-opening, full of wonder, and overwhelming. We visited several other villages and parish communities (always welcomed with ceremonial dancing, drums, entertainment — Africans are known as the most hospitable people in the world); several schools – including the construction site of Maris University, the first Catholic University in the Archdiocese of Port Harcourt, and orphanages.

It was evident from our conversations with the Ghanaan Archbishops of Accra, Kumasi, and Cape Coast that these brilliant men clearly understand the "shepherd's" role in their respective archdioceses, care deeply about the pastoral needs of the people, and are astute and knowledgeable about the economic and social issues that affect their country. They were all open and honest about the problems and needs of the peoples of Africa: displaced persons and lack of services for the disabled; the need for secondary school teachers, desks, equipment, and computers; vocational training; lack of access to adequate health care and nutrition, clean water, electricity, transportation; teen pregnancies, youth unemployment, and extreme poverty.

We visited the Many-Krobo Queen Mother's Association. In the villages, the wife of the chief, the queen, is considered the "mother" of the village. In 1998, after witnessing countless families struggle with HIV/AIDS, the Queen Mothers formed an association and sought guidance and support from the Ministry of Health and Family Health International which provided extensive HIV/AIDS and sexual and reproductive health education and training for over 170 Queen Mothers. Today, the Queen Mothers have implemented widespread HIV prevention. As part of their traditional duties, Queen Mothers are responsible for the welfare of families in their communities, including thousands of orphaned children. They work to secure food for these children as well as funds for their school fees, books and uniforms. Ongoing fundraising efforts are needed to care for these children and to provide them with resources for higher education.

The Queen Mothers have done so much with so little. They mobilized themselves and their communities to courageously and successfully fight against the devastation of HIV/AIDS and poverty in their communities. Their story is a plea to nations wealthier and healthier, to give more generously, relate more collegially, act more courageously, and finally to recognize and reward these and other programs to ensure their sustainability.

I left Africa proud to be Black, proud to be Catholic, and grateful that by the grace of God, I was born at this time and place.

THE PARTY LINE

[Ed. Note: Interesting news and tidbits about alums, their families, endeavors, moves, work, etc. will appear here. Births and deaths will continue to be gathered into the traditional "ALUMNAE NEWS." Contact the Alumnae with items for publication.]

Katy O'Shea '48 was surprised at the Hibernian Convention in Boston in July. Each year the Hibernians support charitable works of Catholic religious communities. For instance, they are making sizeable donations to the Columban Fathers and Sisters. But a third project is undertaken for each 2-year period. Someone there said that there was a group of Holy Family Sisters who had lost their Motherhouse in New Orleans in the Katrina disaster. "I know that situation," she said. "We have a St. Paul alum, Sr. Joseph Ellen Cavalier '57, who is a member of that Congregation!" A $2,500 check was sent immediately, and at the end of two years, a much larger donation from their fundraising efforts will go to the Sisters.

Mary Bremner Burke '59 moved to Texas shortly after graduation. She has been teaching 2nd grade in the Houston public school system. She has 3 grown daughters, a stepson, and 4 grandchildren. She got back in touch with us through her classmate Jean Datzman Robertson.

Carol Longwish Lenherr, member '59, got reconnected to SPHS through a chance encounter with another alum while waiting for the start of the Paul Anka show in Las Vegas. She left SPHS in 9th grade after the death of her mother. She now lives in Mill Valley, has been married 45 years, and has three grown daughters.

Donna Styles-Pawley '66 married husband Robert in 1974. His three children are the source of three grandchildren (one of whom lives with Donna now), and 1 great grandchild. They both gave up the corporate rat-race, and settled in a small town in east Tennessee in 1995. A few years later they purchased a 102-year-old two storey Victorian house, which they have been renovating. This house has been part of the Christmas Home Tours for architecture buffs held the first weekend in December, complete with the residents in period costumes. They've met many interesting people from all over the US and some foreign countries. She also "found" her best friend from high school, Arlene "Dolly" Schiaffino '66, on Classmates.com and they've renewed their friendship.

Diane Wallace Long '66 is retired and is enjoying her two grandchildren (ages 3 and 1). Her husband Bill is retired from the San Francisco Fire Department and is working part time at City College teaching Fire Marshal classes and volunteering with the Red Cross.

Judith Gonzalez Chavez '70 is a trauma nurse in the emergency department at SF General Hospital and is on the faculty at City College of SF as a Nursing Instructor.

Miriam Mendoza-Moody '78 is proud of her son, William Abbott, who earned his BFA in Industrial Design in May, 2006, in a dual program between USF and CA College of Arts.

Rosa Lopez Catanzaro '82 lives in Roseville. She married her husband Victor in October 2004. His Sicilian heritage complements her Italian up-bringing beautifully. They have opened a European cabinet showroom, and she works for Morrison Homes as the Options Coordinator.

Pearl Bermudez '86 began a new job as Technology Support Manager at Leboeuf, Lamb, Green & MacRae, a worldwide law firm.

Shirley Wardell Busch '86 has a 7 year old daughter Alma who attends Catholic school. As a single mother, she says she now realizes how important the scholarships are to the not-so-fortunate families.

Rayna Barlow Rodriguez '86 has been a realtor in the Bay Area for six years. She earned an AA degree in Early Childhood Education from Skyline College in May.

Wellesley Rogers Winder '88 works as the Senior Sales Manager for Marriott International. She completed her MBA in January 2006 at University of Phoenix.

Miriam Archie Gunn, member '92 is married and works part-time at St. Monica's School, SF, where her daughter is a 4th grader.

Maria Lopez '93 is a Public Defender. SPHS benefactor and friend, John Moriarity, wrote that she "has developed into an outstanding Public Defender. I witnessed her win a most difficult case last week (July). You would have been very proud of Maria."

Shadelly Lostaunau Reader '95 and husband Jeffrey have a 14 month old girl, Jaylin. She works as a dental hygienist in downtown San Francisco.

Michael Samujh (Faculty 86-89) and his wife Kamala paid a surprise visit to the home of his former principal Sr. Maureen O'Brien, BVM '54 and colleague Sr. Karen Conover, BVM. They were in SF while his wife was attending a medical conference in the Bay Area. He teaches life science at a junior high school in Tacoma, WA. His son Christopher is doing his residency in surgery in Philadelphia and his daughter Camille is pursuing her master's degree in public health.

“PAULITES TOGETHER FOREVER”

To each and every Paulite
It would be a delight
To carpool to events
Because it makes so much sense.
We will laugh and talk and reminisce
We know that this is bliss!
So, to all Paulites, let it be known
Carpool, carpool, don't drive alone.
I carpool with Jo Stark
It is a lark; so easy to park.
Drive together. It's crystal clear
“For you, St. Paul's, we loudly cheer.”

Whenever the St Paul High School Newsletter arrives, I am sure to get an e-mail from a friend who lives in Massachusetts. We discuss items in the newsletter and usually catch up on goings-on in our lives. I thought you might find the following entertaining; it was part of her last e-mail to me:

“Speaking of St. Paul's, did I tell you that I make my dominoes group sings the St. Paul's HS song whenever I win at dominoes? And as winning is NOT as common an event as I'd like, recently I also added a new twist: now if I'm in a losing-streak, I make those around my end of the table chant, “Here we go, Pandas, here we go!” If I can't surround myself with buddies from SPHS, then at least I can make my MA buddies into mini-Pandas!”

SR. MARY ST. JULIAN TO MARK 100 YEARS

March 30, 2007 will be a special day for Sister Mary St. Julian Flaherty, BVM who resides at Marian Hall, the BVM infirmary in Dubuque. She will be 100 years old! She was a teacher at St. Paul Elementary School 1930-1941 and at St. Paul High School 1949-1955. Though suffering failing eyesight and hearing, she is alert and interested in what goes on around her. You might want to add to the flood of birthday greetings for the soon-to-be centenarian. Her address is: 1050 Carmel Drive, Dubuque, IA 52003.

Hello all! It's been 21 years since my mom, Evelyn Green, died. Those in my class of '51 would probably remember her. Some who were in St. Luke's Hospital as nurses or patients might also recall that she worked there from the 40's into the late 60's. So, I thought it would be of interest to our readers to know there is a memorial fund in her honor at St. Luke's.

After so many years of success, once again this fine hospital is struggling financially. I had 5 of my babies there and St. Luke's has always been close to my heart. If it's a mere $5, perhaps, more, it would be so meaningful for St. Paul's alumnae to contribute every now and then, even in honor of a loved one. Contributions could be sent to
